Products

HWP is a wood packaging manufacturer of pallets and crates, as well as of the components that are used in the assembly of these packaging products. Each of our wood pallets and wooden crates are manufactured using only the highest quality components specifically selected in order to guarantee that all our products offer the best packing solution for your cargo. Quality components result in quality products.

We offer an unlimited variety of models and standard sizes of pallets and crates, and we can also custom design crates to your specifications.

Our years of experience and manufacturing expertise mean that we are uniquely positioned to help you determine the best product for your specific shipping requirements. Our know-how enables us to meet the highest standards while remaining competitively priced.

The combination of quality workmanship and cutting-edge technology cements our position as a leading, flexible, reliable and premium custom wood pallet and crate manufacturer.

Our commitment to producing quality products means we continue to exceed the expectations of our growing client base.

The recycling of materials

Thanks to the close relationships we build with our partners and clients, HWP has implemented a unique collection and re-evaluation strategy for wood pallets and crates. Based on a number of criteria, pallets and crates are evaluated and then either returned to circulation or re-cycled. This environmentally friendly approach breathes new life into wood packaging materials and helps reduce the carbon footprint of HWP, our clients and their customers, too.

Recycling & Used pallets

Wood pallets that cannot be returned or re-used for production constitute a major problem for many businesses. Precious storage space is wasted on the storage of these pallets, and then companies must pay expensive fees to have the pallets taken away. However, what was a frustrating expense can become a source of compensation.

HWP will purchase (if viable) and collect these pallets in order to return them to circulation or to use for the production of biomass.

The conservation of the environment is at the heart of our manufacturing principals. HWP's full-cycle green production, with 100% recuperation, guides many of our business decisions and actions. The plan is founded on several key principles that are the re-using and recycling of recyclable pallets and materials, as well as a contribution towards biomass.

Heat treatment

HWP complies with the strictest international heat-treatment standards (ISPM-15) that guarantees the annihilation of any larvae and parasites that are present in the wood used to produce our wood packaging components.
